Dean Colbert to Leave College Faculty Sept. 1

Student Body Votes To Petition Board of Regents To Name Him Mathematics Instructor With Emeritus Standing—Tribute Paid to Dean.

Dean George H. Colbert, dean of the College faculty for the past seventeen years, and a member of the faculty since the establishment of the institution twenty years ago, will sever his connections with S. T. C. September 1, it was announced Tuesday.

Dean Colbert has a host of friends at the College and in Northwest Missouri, who will regret his leaving.

More than a thousand students of the college, assembled in a mass meeting yesterday afternoon, unanimously voiced their high esteem for Dean Colbert and voted to petition the Board of Regents to elect the Dean chairman of the mathematics department, thus relieving him of his deanship duties, or to give him emeritus standing.

The action of the students followed closely the public announcement the preceding day that Dean Colbert would sever his connection with this institution September 1. That the mass meeting was a "pro-Colbert" gathering was evidenced from the start. Speeches were made by a dozen students, men and women, of all ages, expressing their high esteem for Dean Colbert and urging that every honorable means be employed to secure his retention on the College faculty. Speeches were made by Russell Hamilton, David Max, Clarence Bush, Mary Hansell, J. D. Decker, Clarence Rising, Wilbur Cox, T. M. Walton, O. C. Williams, Mary Lewis, Irene O'Brien, Floyd Cook, W. H. Watkins, and Wilbur Williams. Ray Blomfield, president of the Student Council, presided at the meeting.

A fitting tribute by Mr. Wells and a tremendous ovation by the student body were given Dean Colbert at Assembly yesterday morning. Mr. Wells, acting president of the College in the absence of President Lamkin, presided at Assembly. In referring to Dean Colbert's departure from the College he said:

"Before I ask Mr. Phillips to introduce the speaker of the morning I want to say a word in reference to the notice which came out in yesterday's paper that Dean Colbert is leaving this institution at the end of this term.

"It is not more than fair at this time that we stop for a moment to express our respect for him and our regret that he is leaving. After twenty years of unflinching service to the institution he stands today with unblemished record of service as a man of untiring efforts to give the best that is in him. He has at all times given the best of his time and more than that, he never refused to go on the second mile.

"I believe there is no man or woman on this faculty who has the respect of faculty and student body that Dean Colbert has. I do not believe there is one in our faculty who has the mature, right, unbiased judgement that Dean Colbert has. For the many years I have worked with him I have looked to him as a safety valve. When I was ready to blow up and lose patience, I have been kept from it by talking matters over with Mr. Colbert. It is no more than right that we should as a student body and faculty show our respect and express our regret to him."

At the conclusion of his remarks the entire student body rose to its feet and gave Dean Colbert a mighty ovation. Cries of speech were heard from the student body, but the Dean, overcome with emotion, rose to his feet and said:

"Someone has said that speech is silver and silence is golden. This morning I will have to give you some of the gold."

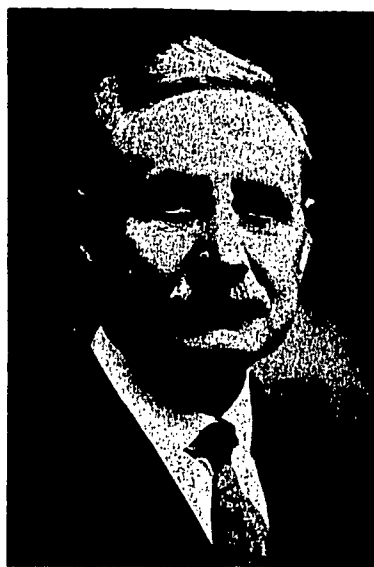

As the Dean sat down the Assembly broke forth in an other ovation. (Continued on Page Two)

The play is a melodramatic farce by George M. Cohan. It enjoyed a long run in New York and Chicago and has had several successful seasons on the road.

The staging of the play is particularly unique and difficult. The stage in the auditorium will be transformed into a replica of the interior of Baldpate Inn, near Estes Park, Colo. A balcony across the back of the stage and some unusual lighting effects will be featured in the staging of the play.

President Lamkin Still Urged for Head of N.E.A.

City Dailies Carry Story of Him as Potential Candidate to Head National Teachers Body—Will Speak at Philadelphia Convention Next Week.

President Lamkin has been endorsed by the Missouri State Teachers Association for the presidency of the National Education Association which holds its annual convention in Philadelphia next week. Within the past week metropolitan dailies have carried pictures and stories of Mr. Lamkin's endorsement for this position.

Mr. Lamkin has not announced whether or not he will permit his name to be presented to the convention. He has expressed his disapproval of anyone making a campaign for an office in an educational association and has made no campaign for this honor in his own behalf.

Programs for the forthcoming N. E. A. convention at Philadelphia reveal the fact that President Lamkin will speak on the program for the general session Wednesday. His subject, as given by the program is, "The Child's Greatest Need—The Professional Teacher." An invitation to speak on a general session N. E. A. program is, in itself, a distinct honor and recognition of his standing as an educator in the United States. Mr. Lamkin will probably leave for Philadelphia the last of this week.

The recent article which appeared in the Kansas City Star follows:

Maryville, Mo., June 16—Dr. Uel W. Lamkin, president of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College here, has been endorsed by the Missouri State Teachers' Association as its "favorite son" for the presidency of the National Education Association, which holds its annual convention in Philadelphia June 27 to July 2.

Geographically, Missouri is entitled to this honor, states the School and Community, Missouri school journal, in a recent issue. The present president is a Massachusetts principal. She succeeded a city superintendent of the far West, who followed a New York educator, and the journal thinks it is time for the Mississippi Valley to be represented.

Mr. Lamkin has come from the ranks of the small town teacher and county superintendent and was state superintendent of schools for one term.

Following the war he was called to Washington to become director of the rehabilitation division of the federal board of vocational education, directing the educational training of thousands of disabled veterans. In 1921 he resigned this position to become president of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers' college, which has enjoyed steady growth under his leadership.

Y. W. Girls Return From Ozark Camp.

Electa Bailey, Margaret Alt, Jewell Goss, Clara McCoy and Matilda McMillan returned this week from Monte Ne, Arkansas, where they spent ten days at the middlewestern Y. W. O. A. conference as delegates from the local Y. At the Y. W. meeting this week these girls gave talks on their experiences at the camp. All were enthusiastic about the pleasure and profit they received at the camp.

Monte Ne, they said, is a beautiful summer resort located in the Ozarks, especially the nearby cliffs of Panorama and Edens Bluff.

There were several very inspiring and profitable speakers. Among them were: Dr. Bradley, pastor of the Congregational Church, Webster Grove, Mo.; "Shorty" Collins, secretary of the Conference; Miss Scurlock, a technical worker from New York and Miss Ouller, a former missionary to India.

More Lockers Installed

More locker space has been provided for summer students by the means of baskets on the first floor. The busy summer students no longer need to carry coats, extra books or umbrellas to classes.

3 Classes Observe Franklin Teaching

Classes in methods, principles and school economy have been going to Franklin School for observations. Miss Holliday demonstrated to a class of about thirty-five, the teaching of spelling. She emphasized the fact that spelling should be a teaching situation rather than a testing one. The principles class went Thursday to see lessons in drill given by Miss Carr and Miss Holliday. The class in school economy also went Thursday to observe general arrangement.

Regents Rescind Ban on Sororities And Fraternities

Greek Letter Social Organizations Now Made Legal On Campus By Action of Board of Regents at Meeting Last Week.

Social fraternities and sororities may be organized on the campus now following a new ruling passed by the Board of Regents of the College last week. For several years a Board ruling has barred such organizations from the campus but the new regulation permits Greek letter social societies which come under faculty supervision.

In the past year several inquiries have come from national fraternities and sororities with a view of locating a chapter here. No definite steps have been announced by any groups as yet to organize a fraternity or sorority here.

Following is the new ruling:

"The President, with the advice of the Faculty Council, shall have authority to make any regulations necessary for the government and control of student organization of the College. Authority is also given to establish standards for rooming houses, (considering such matters as sanitation, number of persons to a room, bath and toilet facilities, room furnishings, and supervision of social life,) from which persons can be admitted as students of the College."

This is the regulation which was rescinded:

"In view of the fact that many graduates of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College will teach in the Public High Schools of the State, where secret sororities and secret fraternities are not wanted, and in view of the fact that the existence of these organizations in the High Schools of the State have been found to be detrimental to the best interests of the school and the members of such secret organizations, now, therefore, be it resolved that it is the sense of the Board of Regents of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College that they be not encouraged or permitted in this institution. This resolution shall not apply to non-secret, honorary scholarship societies organized in connection with institutions similar to the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College, if organized and governed by regulations approved by the Faculty and Administration."

Section 9 of the Students' Handbook on regulations regarding organizations says:

"Any group of students desiring to organize any student society or club must present in written form to the Student Council a statement setting forth the reason for such an organization. If approved by the Student Council the request shall be presented to the Student Welfare Committee of the Faculty for approval."

Cox and Craig New Junior Councilmen

Wilbur Cox and Wilson Craig have been elected by the Junior Class as its representatives on the Student Council. The final election was held last week. At the preceding meeting Clarence Bush, Fred Street, Dorothy England, Hazel Hawkins, Wilbur Cox and Wilson Craig were placed in the nomination.

The newly elected members succeed Ned Colbert and Mervin McNulty on the Council.

Personality and Character Vital

—SAYS MR. MILLER

"The development of character and personality is every bit as important as the earning of a college degree," Mr. Miller told Y. M. C. A. members at their meeting last week in a talk on "Education Plus." In this talk Mr. Miller emphasized the need of other things besides a college degree.

"Campus Ideals," was the topic for discussion by the members at this meeting and the subject was discussed as it related to present campus problems.

A piano solo was given by Donald Russell. The devotion was led by Vernon Barrett.

Rich Roberts was visiting in St. Joseph during the week end.

COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will reverence and obey the College laws and do our best to make a like respect and reverence in others. We will transfer to the College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

AFTER HIGH SCHOOL WHAT?

Every serious minded high school graduate must ask himself these questions: What shall I do now? Shall I continue my education or shall I drift a while and see what may chance along for me? It is important for future success to answer these questions right. Do you feel that your education is sufficient? Has your high school work not created interests in the problems of education which you desire to follow up? You may reply that you do not feel like giving the time or incurring the expense in continuing in school. As to time, large numbers of mature men and women are coming to attend our Teachers Colleges. They are convinced of the value of more education. Their experiences with the problems of everyday life has convinced them. They perhaps thought it best to hurry into life's work with only an elementary training. For every one of these men and women in school there are many more out of school who are daily regretting their lack of a better education. The former group, those who have returned to school, are often taking time out from well paying work, besides bearing the expense of schooling. Can you afford to make the delay they have made? Think it over.

Now as to the second question, shall I enter some kind of gainful work or a profession? As to the profession, you will be barred at once with only a high school education. You may protest you do not want to enter a profession, teaching for instance. But suppose that later you change your mind. It may be too late then. Responsibilities, usually increasing with age, may not permit of your return to school. You will now be in the class spoken of above as those who regret their youthful indecision.

And as for drifting in the hands of chance, it is an easy way to answer that question. It is the way too many have answered it. They are still drifting, waiting, railing at what Fate has brought them, or has not brought them. It is an easy frame of mind to get into, and a very hard one to get out of. Lincoln said, "Today I will work and study, and then tomorrow I shall be ready for whatever may come." Can you improve on his plan?

A broad education will give you greater pleasure in life, make you a better teacher, help you succeed in your profession and enable you to make some real contribution to the solution of educational problems which are pressing on every hand.—The Budget.

AMERICAN PUBLIC EDUCATION

Woodrow Wilson

Popular education is necessary for the preservation of those conditions of freedom, political and social, which are indispensable to free individual development. No instrumentality less universal in its power and authority than government can secure popular education. Without popular education, moreover, no government which rests upon popular action can long endure. The people must be schooled in the knowledge and, if possible, in the virtues upon which the maintenance and success of free institutions depend. No free government can last in health if it loses hold of the traditions of its history, and in the public schools these traditions may be and should be sedulously preserved, carefully replanted in the thought and consciousness of each successive generation.

TEACHING—A PROFESSION

Many times when you ask a student what he plans to do when he graduates, he will answer, "Oh, I suppose I'll teach a year or two." That is just what is keeping teaching from being established on a firm professional basis. College graduates teach for a year or two until they find something else they like better. It is partly the fault of low salaries that capable men merely use teaching as a stepping stone. But low salaries are in turn a result of these transient teachers.

Law could not have developed a professional status if lawyers merely practiced for one or two years. Neither could medicine have been established on a firm professional basis with transient practitioners. We must do two things, to place teaching on a basis with other professions: first, make teaching requirements high enough to force out the transients; second, by combined effort demand salaries that will attract a better and a more permanent class of teachers.—Exponent.

READ FOR RECREATION

Most every student knows that the library contains hundreds of text books for reference use. But many are not aware of the fact that many of the best and latest books of non-professional nature are available for the students.

All of us read much for outside classwork and reference reading. Most of us are probably not doing much reading just for the "love of reading."

The library has some new books designed for recreational reading. If you have some spare time over the weekend go to the library and call for one of the following:

"The Forsyte Saga"—J. Galsworthy.
"The Garden Party"—K. Mansfield.
"Daughter of the Middleborder"—H. Garland.
"Modern Essays"—C. Manley.
"The Tales of Chekhov"—Chekhov.

Board Picks New Teachers

Music from Northwestern University. Miss Elizabeth White was employed as instructor in rural education. She is a graduate from Wabash and holds a master's degree from the University of Missouri. She was formerly a rural school inspector in the Missouri state education department. Miss White taught here during the short course.

New Department Heads

Two new department heads were designated by the board. Mr. Phillips was named chairman of the education department to succeed Dr. Keller, who has resigned. Mr. Eek was named for a similar position in the commerce department to succeed Mr. Rogers, who has resigned to enter private business.

Vit. Ag. Interest

Nebraska and Utah

Other States are beginning to see the value of Vitalized Agriculture. The State Teachers College at Peru, Nebraska is giving a course in Vitalized Agriculture, taught by Mrs. Genevieve Clark of Fairbury, Nebraska. The Christian College at York, Nebraska is offering such a course taught by Mrs. Edna Anderson and Midland College at Fremont, Nebraska has a Vitalized Agriculture course taught by Mrs. Verna Spoonhour. Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Spoonhour have all been students of Mr. Cooper of our own S. T. C. Mr. Orson Ryan is giving a five-week's course in Vitalized Agriculture at the State Teachers College at Chadron, Nebraska. From there he will go to Logan, Utah where he will conduct a similar course in the State Teachers College.

In each of these colleges the outline books put out by Mr. Cooper and Mr. Glenn of our faculty are used.

Mr. Ryan has visited schools in Nodaway county. He has taught several years in Logan, Utah and for the past four years has been a writer on Vitalized agriculture for the Popular Education.

Mr. Bronson's Pupil a Star

Leota Lane, star of the Greenwich Village Follies, is now singing in New York. She was a pupil of Mr. Bronson during his four years at Simpson. Mr. Bronson thinks he may have some potential stars among his summer students.

Students Here Write To French Students

About twenty-five students in the various classes in French during the spring quarter took advantage of the opportunity offered them through the Bureau of International Correspondence to initiate a correspondence with some French students of like age and interests.

In a number of instances several letters have been exchanged and our students have received many photographs and pictures. While the correspondence is limited to French students, they are not necessarily located in France. Two S. T. C. men are writing to medical students in the University of Louvain, Belgium. Two girls are corresponding with girls in Constantine, Algeria, while others are writing to Switzerland and various places in France.

Headquarters of the Bureau of International Correspondence is at Peabody Teacher's College, Nashville, Tennessee. Through the efforts of this Bureau students are thus privileged to gain for themselves an interesting and personal view of the students of other nations.

Dean Colbert to leave
S. T. C. September 1st

Dean Colbert has made no announcement of his future plans. Neither has there been any announcement concerning the selection of his successor. Under the present faculty council organization it will not be necessary to name a new dean at once.

Male Quartet Makes Hit With Audience

The Imperial Male Quartet of Chicago which sang at the College June 15, afternoon and night, was one of the best organizations of its kind ever heard in Maryville.

The quartet which has been made up of the same four men for the last five years, sang without accompaniment. The program was divided into groups of classical, popular favorites, negro spirituals and religious numbers.

A large and appreciative audience greeted the quartet at both performances.

A large crowd attended and enjoyed the afternoon concert by the quartet. The solos by Mr. Thomas Fanelle were especially well received. The quartet responded liberally with several snappy encore numbers. The modern arrangement of "My Old Kentucky Home" was very pleasing.

The program consisted of folk songs, descriptive songs, negro spirituals, popular ballads and sacred songs. The numbers were arranged in groups of songs.

Following is the program given:
I. "What the Chimney Sang"
"Mother O' Mine"
"The Pipe Organ"
II. "The Little Red Drum"
"A Pickaninny Lullaby"
"O Wert Thou in the Cauld Blast"
III. "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot"
"Steal Away to Jesus"
Tenor solos by Mr. Thomas Fanelle with quartet accompaniment.
IV. "Come Thou the Night"
"The World is Waiting for the Sunrise"
V. "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes"
"Pale Moon"
VI. "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me"
"When They Ring the Golden Bells for You and Me"
VII. "The Peaceful Lake"
"The Evening Song"

Ethel Botswick was in Craig, Mo. over the week end.

Franklin Pupils on World Tour

Have you an imagination? If so, then you will be interested in the projects that the classes in the demonstration school are working out with their imaginations alert.

First there are the sightseers of the fourth grade with Willa McLaughlin as the guide. They started on an European trip, leaving Maryville and going by the way of New York City where Miss Souter took them over the city by means of pictures. In London, they were met by Miss Dykes whose familiarity with the city made their stay there quite vivid. A day was spent in Paris and Lyons, France and then they took a direct route to Geneva, Switzerland. They are in Switzerland now and plan to remain for some time studying how the Swiss people live, work and play. At present they are particularly interested in searching for a modeler either in person or on a music record.

The pupils of the fifth and sixth grades with Miss Holiday are making a more extensive tour of the continent. They spent much time in England with Miss Dykes pointing out the places of interest and giving a vivid contrast of life in England and in America.

Then there are the health seekers of both the third and fourth grades. Their search for health has not led them so far away. With Miss Carr they visited the College dairy farm where they saw for themselves the hygienic processes of caring for the cows and the milk.

With imagination still alert these groups are working on original health plays and songs on milk, with Vinita Adams and Florida Moore directing them.

Executive of Girls Reserve Talks to Y.

A most interesting feature of the Y. W. C. A. program on June 15 in addition to the regular devotional and musical program, was an address by Miss Marian E. Casey, Girls Reserve Executive of Y. W. C. A. in Washington, D. C. Miss Casey is a sister-in-law of Mr. Glenn of the College faculty.

Much interesting and valuable information was given in regard to the Girl Reserve of America and of similar organizations and their activities in foreign countries. Miss Casey stressed the fact that the purpose of these American and foreign groups were identical: (1) To place in reserve those things that will be helpful in later life. (2) To train the girls to take up the work of their big sister organization, The Y. W. C. A.

Miss Casey's personal touches of life in Washington and with the first lady of the land, Mrs. Coolidge, in Girl Reserve activities, mark this one of the best Y. W. C. A. programs of the summer. The following program was given: Song—"O Come All Ye Faithful." Prayer—Dorothy England. Devotional Reading—Hazel Hawkins. Violin Solo—Maude Kibbe. Address—Miss Marian E. Casey. Song—"Follow the Glean."

Miss Dow spent the week end in Liberty, Missouri.

Freshmen Quit Schools For Various Reason

Poor Scholarship, Lack of Money, Wife and Kitchenette, among Causes Given.

Why freshmen leave college is a problem causing some concern among the universities of America. Responses from representative institutions among those solicited indicated that 20 per cent or more of the youths who go to college drop out before or at the end of the first year.

What are the reasons? Bad scholastic standing leads the long list. Lack of funds comes next. Then there is poor health, the desire to go into dad's business, and make a lot of money, matrimony and the necessity to support a wife and kitchenette, and overcutting of classes.

"College isn't hard so far as studies go," one professor said. "Nowadays anybody smart enough to get in can stay in if he wants to. But he must have a definite purpose to act as an incentive and cause him to stick."

Dean Archibald L. Bouton of New York university gave two other reasons, saying:

"An imperfectly defined purpose that brings men to college causes them to leave. They discover that they are not going in the direction they desire. But social or family reasons have impelled them to enter college. It is not a lack of brains, but a lack of purpose which causes men to drop out or decline in their studies."

At New York university, eighty-one freshmen out of a class of 276 dropped by the wayside. Of that number, 11.5 per cent failed to meet scholarship requirements, 1.4 per cent overcut their classes, 4.5 per cent withdrew for financial reasons, health, or to enter business, and 4.8 per cent were transferred to other colleges.

Dean Herbert Hawkes of Columbia college showed the following statement for the freshman class of 750 men:

Cause	No. Withdrawn
Scholarship	84
Financial	37
Business	4
Health	8
Other reasons	4
Transferred	9
Unknown	8
Overcutting	1
Total	109

Dean Robert M. Hutchins of Yale stated that of the 11.9 per cent lost from the freshmen class of 1928, 8.5 per cent left for low academic standing.

Out of 1,825 freshmen at Harvard in 1923-24, Dean C. N. Greenough said 14.7 per cent withdrew. Of that number 7.1 per cent failed to make the scholastic grade.—New York Times.

College Now Works With 3 Rural Schools

Martha Washington School Has Been Added to Myrtle Tree and Garrett for Rural Demonstration Schools.

The College has completed plans to use the Martha Washington School, located three miles southeast of Maryville, for observation and practice teaching for the coming year. The affiliation of the College with the Martha Washington School marks the third project of like nature into which the College has entered with rural schools of the community, the Garrett and Myrtle Tree schools being the other two schools. Miss Jessie Z. Murphy, a former graduate of the College, is to be the teacher.

The arrangement with Martha Washington School is possible because of the progressive nature of the school, the equipment, and the attitude of the school officers. The school officers are: President, Roy Lippman; clerk, L. E. Lyle; J. E. Shinabarger, and William Sturm.

Martha Washington School is one of the few schools of Nodaway county having a nine months term. This school has an added distinction of being the first school in the state to be ranked "first class" under the new regulations which state superintendent, Charles A. Lee made in 1923.

Miss Jesse Z. Murphy, the teacher, is a former student of the College and holds the B. S. degree from this school. She has been attending the University of Missouri the past year doing graduate work for the Master's degree. Miss Murphy has had several years of successful teaching experience in rural schools, in high schools, and in teacher-training work.

For the past year the College has had a similar arrangement to that of Martha Washington School with Myrtle Tree School, located seven miles northeast of Maryville. This experiment will continue. The success of this project has been due in no small degree to the splendid cooperation which the Myrtle Tree district has shown toward the College.

The Garrett School, the first experiment which the College conducted in operating a rural demonstration and practice teaching school, has met with decided success. The building is now closed, the children being brought to the college for training.

The College can in this way demonstrate the timely problem of transportation—not only to the Garrett School, but to the surrounding community.

Here again, splendid cooperation of the school district made possible not only the first experiment of conducting a rural observation and practice teaching school, but the second arrangement by which the children are transported to the college.

Bill Lamkin Heads High School Students

Bill Lamkin has been elected president of the College high school students for the summer term. The other officers elected are: Vice-president, Elda Caldwell; secretary, Margaret Ann Toomay; sergeant-at-arms, Marion Guillems; reporter, Harry Glover. Eudora McDonald, Beverly Martin, and Clarence Lloyd will serve as a social committee. The program committee is Lameda Nelson, Stanley Ford and Kenneth Leeson. The high school students held an assembly every Thursday.

Biology

Along with the program of laboratory work, lectures and readings from the library, the Nature Study Class is keeping in touch with the developments out doors. "Along A Railroad in June" according to William A. Quayle's delightful little sketch, was the first trip which proved that a railroad is one of the few localities that give refuge to wild flowers. The second trip disclosed the fact that there are about forty varieties of trees on the campus. Last week a little contest was staged to see who could observe and name the largest variety of things in the fifty minute trip. Maude Linville was the winner of first prize with 143 names to her credit. She received a beautiful stick of gum. The winners of second and third prizes were Mildred McCulley and Velma Inbody, with 134 and 126 names respectively. They also received a whole stick of gum.

English

Miss Lowery is offering a short story course this quarter. It is a study of short stories, both English and American, and their authors. The course comprises a study of the best short stories written.

Miss Bowman is teaching four English classes, two in 11b, one in 62a, and one in 62b.

Industrial Arts

Miss Fisher has returned from Columbia University to resume her work here. Miss Fisher received her Masters Degree from Columbia. Of the two years that Miss Fisher has been at our college she has had 500 students enrolled in primary and intermediate work, not including those in basketry. Nothing is done in the hand work classes that grade children cannot do. Before the end of the summer an exhibit of the work done in these classes will be on display in room 206.

Commerce

A survey course in accounting is being offered for the second time. The aim of the course is to acquaint the students with the best authors of elementary accounting and in evaluating the various accounting texts.

This course is important because it familiarizes the students and teachers with the texts from which they will have to choose, when teaching.

The department has been fortunate in having B. S. Peters, of Kansas City, who is the author of a textbook on Missouri statutes, and J. W. Baker, author of the 20th Century Book-

The Advanced Business Law class has made a good start on its work for the summer quarter. This is an extraordinary class, made up almost entirely of High School teachers. Eighteen persons are enrolled in this class.

Study Hot Lunches

The class in Rural School Management is studying the hot lunch. They are giving their experience in serving hot lunches in the schools where they have taught the past year. The consensus of opinion is that hot lunches are feasible and worth while.

Last week the class studied rural health and are now making posters combining health work and hot lunches.

High School

Lula Mae Curfman has been given a class in American Literature in the College High School. There are now fourteen practice teachers in the secondary department. They are arranged in two discussion groups. The groups meet each week and talk over problems and review principles and methods of teaching which they are trying out. Some new phase of technique in teaching upon which the teachers wish to improve their skill is tried out each week.

Public Speaking

Mr. Miller reports some splendid work being done in the department of public speaking. In the Reading and Speaking class some lively debates are being held and much interest has been shown in the discussion of news. In his Short Story Reading and Poetry classes he reports some unusually good students. In the Interpretive Reading class much interest is taken in the study of monologues and Shakespeare's soliloquies. Although the enrollment in these courses is not as large as it has been in the past, the students are doing some intensive work.

Vitalized Agriculture

The morning and afternoon divisions of the Vitalized Agriculture class, taught by Mr. Cooper, made a field trip to the Parkdale Farm South of town, Monday, June 21 to study some of the fine Scotch Shorthorn cattle owned by Mr. C. D. Bellows. The students judged three classes; one class of cows, one class of two-year old bulls and one class of one-year old bulls. The students were very enthusiastic over the splendid showing of the Shorthorns. It was a rare opportunity because Mr. Bellows had fifty-five head shaped for the annual sale. He also went to the trouble at such a busy time to display the animals, tell of their pedigrees, and instruct on such points and answer such questions as the students wanted to ask.

The past week the Vitalized Agriculture class has been studying insects, identifying them, studying methods of eradication and making insecticides.

The outline books are here for the Vitalized Agriculture classes. This is the first printed edition of these books to be used here. They are put out by Mr. Glenn and Mr. Cooper, Mr. Glenn planning and outlining the man-

Fun At Play Night

You missed a good time if you were not out to Play last Thursday night. About 150 students were present. Games such as the "Virginia Reel," "Towel Race," "Dodge Ball" and the "Freeze Out," were enjoyed.

Better times are being planned for other play nights.

It is recommended that the girls wear their low heels—it will save them repair money and they will probably enjoy the evening more.

Eastern Stars and Masons Have Picnic

Eastern Stars and Masons got acquainted early this summer at a delightful picnic held at the college on June 16, with the Eastern Star Club as host.

Spirited games of baseball and croquet were played after which a delicious picnic supper was served in the East Gymnasium.

Short talks were made by various members of the organizations.

Rosella Froman, president of the Eastern Star Club, spoke of a school of instruction to be conducted in the club by Mrs. Penbody, Past Worthly Grand Matron of Missouri. Mrs. Penbody is attending summer school.

Paul Chappell, president of the Masonic club, responded, stating that the club had not completed its plans for the summer but that the club would soon have definite plans working.

Approximately fifty people attended the picnic. Mrs. Perrin, Miss Anthony, Miss Souter, Mr. Loomis, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Withington, and Mr. Selcman of the college faculty were present.

There were Eastern Stars and Masons representing chapters from the following towns: Excelsior Springs, Grant City, St. Joseph, Concordia, Ironton, Osula, Skidmore, Pattonsburg, Albany, Kearney, Bogard, Savannah, Forest City, Cainsville, Trenton, Maitland, Cameron, Pickering, Parkville, Rose Hill, Iowa; Hatton, Washington; and Tyrone, Oklahoma.

Commerce Class Get New Books

The Commerce Department has received some complimentary copies of books of special interest to the students of the department.

The Southwestern Publishing Company has sent twenty copies of "Book-keeping and Accounting" by McKinsey. These are to be given to students in advanced accounting.

The Gregg Publishing Company has sent twenty copies of "Essentials of Commercial Law" by Whigam. The Advanced Business Law class is to receive these books. Each student in this class is to receive two copies of the magazine "The Commercial Law Review."

Duane C. Whitford, a former student, is with Bruce Dodson and Company, an insurance company of Kansas City, Missouri. He has written to have the Courier sent to him.

Practice Teaching at Franklin
The following are doing practice teaching in the fifth and sixth grades at the Franklin School for the summer: Mrs. Lon Wilson, Hallie Foley, Lula Jones, Martha Colbin, and Hattie Stanton. Miss Holiday has charge of these practice teachers.

A short assembly was held last week due to illness in the family of Professor Walter Heart of the University of Wisconsin, who was scheduled to address the students.

Agriculture
Mr. Kinaird reports a large oass in Vitalized agriculture this quarter. The herd of Jerseys produced milk valued at $250 in the month of May.

Marguerite Coulter of Albany attended the national convention of the Delta Theta Tau Sorority which was held at Cincinnati, Ohio last week.

Expert in Writing Talks to Classes

"Writing is my business," says Mr. J. A. Savage who is addressing the classes in penmanship at the college this week.

Mr. Savage has been supervisor of writing in the schools of Omaha, Nebraska for the past twelve years. He is also the summer representative sent out by the Laurel Book Company of Chicago. His work is mainly to demonstrate the "Writing Business" in summer schools throughout the country.

In his talks Mr. Savage emphasizes the five points of good writing. They are: Good position, Good movement, Good form, Use in every lesson and Use every day. These facts hold true in any system of writing.

In his "Writing Business" Mr. Savage has a two-fold purpose: First to teach boys and girls to write, and second, To teach teachers to teach writing. In his demonstrations this week he desires to leave a good taste in the mouth, for writing.

"Able, your shirt tail is out."
"Out! Vere is it out?"
"Out where the vest begins."

Ruby Ewing, a former student here, has taken a teaching position at Wichita Falls, Texas for next year. Her sister Bernice, who is in school this summer, will teach primary and music at Worth next year.

Commerce

A course in salesmanship is being offered at the college for the third time. This subject is becoming very popular with the summer students.

The course is planned to teach the fundamentals necessary in salesmanship. It seves also to teach the individual to have a definite aim in life, character building, personality and how to develop it, and the secret of leadership.

There are two important and desirable qualifications that a salesman must have. These are, first, the ability of the salesman to adapt the method of his approach to the apparent temperament of his customer; and second, the curious faculty of divining the proper time to risk everything on the closing talk.

There are twenty-one students enrolled in this class, which is under Mr. Rogers.

Charlotte Hainman spent the week end at her home in St. Joseph.

Franklin School Now a Wigwam for Real Indian Life

An Indian project is being used as the basis for the work of the first grade at Franklin this summer.

Upon entering the room at 8 o'clock in the morning you would think yourself transported to a real Indian camp. For thirty minutes the children engage in the activities in which they are most interested. You see some of the little ones seated on the floor designing Indian blankets. These are on a foundation of burlap and the design is put on with water color or crayola. Other children are making feather headpieces. In one corner some of the boys are constructing a wigwam while another group is busy with clay modeling dishes and beads which they will decorate later. A few of the girls are making Indian cradles for their dolls.

For reading, charts based on these Indian activities are made. The more advanced pupils also read stories such as "Red Feather" and the Hiawatha Primer.

Number work is being accomplished with various Indian games. Language is based on stories of Indian life. Many of them are dramatized on the puppet theatre by means of face conversation. Indian songs and dances are taught and the nature study is connected with the wild life as it is associated with the Indian.

Great interest is shown by the children and the work is a splendid illustration of a workable project curriculum.

Party for Faculty Women

The women of the faculty entertained with a party at the Country Club, Monday night. Miss Millikan, Miss Terhune and Miss Souter were in charge of the party.

During the evening Miss Painter sang, Miss Devorak played several violin solos and Miss McClannahan gave a reading.

Picnic is Planned

The Newman Club, at its last meeting, discussed plans for a picnic to be held sometime in the near future. The club is planning to have as many former students as possible attend this picnic.

At its meeting last week Mattie Lawler, club president, gave a talk on Creighton University. A Pantomime was given by Bonnie Roe, Hazel Hawkins and Veryl Baker.
